MAY TAKE SITUATION
UP BEFORE CONGRESS

Brotherhoods Publish Reasons for Rejecting President's Offer of Peace

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—President Harding will place the rail strike situation before congress and before the country within forty-eight hours, it was officially announced Tuesday at the White House.

The president was said to feel that it is due to the country and congress that the exact conditions in the strike situation—the coal as well as the railroad difficulties—should be presented as he has ascertained that during weeks of negotiation and conference he does not consider it was said, that the step will interfere with any peace efforts which may be continued in other than governmental quarters and he hopes that the coal difficulty may have at least partially disappeared by the time he presents his message.

The announcement came after the president had conferred on the strike situation with his cabinet and with leaders in congress, and after railroad union labor organizations had made public their rejection of the president's last settlement proposal, together with the statement that chiefs of the non-striking unions planned to continue their efforts at mediation of the rail controversy.

Doors to Peace Closed
The administration spokesman who made known the president's purpose declared there was "no ground for the executive to stand upon in advancing any further proposition," for settlement of the railroad strike, other than those which have already laid before the management and representatives of the workmen now striking.

The impression prevailed among the president's advisers that he would in his statement to congress and through congress to the country make no suggestions as to legislation, but that the administration spokesman said that depended on the events that occur within the brief time before he speaks.

Follow Coal Strike Policy
The president, it was stated, was determined that the only course the government would pursue was the path it followed in the coal strike—extension of an invitation to the employers to operate their properties with the cooperation of the states would stand behind them in their

Stone Orders Santa Fe Men Back To Job

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has notified branches of his union in the far west that unless the men who walked out of the Santa Fe without authorization return to work immediately their places will be filled, according to statement made public today by A. G. Wells, vice president of the Santa Fe.

STATE FUEL BOARD DEMANDS REGULAR SHIPMENTS HERE

Lenroot Wires that 450,000
Tons of Coal is Ready to Move Up the Lakes

TWO CARS A DAY ARE ORDERED TO LA CROSSE

Leave Milwaukee Tuesday to Meet Local Shortage

MADISON, Wis.—Request was made of the federal fuel administration Tuesday by the Wisconsin fuel committee that it adopt a regulation compelling each producer of coal to ship a certain percentage of cars loaded each day to the Great Lakes region.

By the enforcement of such a measure Wisconsin would be able to receive the fuel needed to fill emergency priorities. P. E. Presen-tin, secretary of the state committee, said. Up to the present no word of coal shipments under federal priority orders has been received.

Senator Lenroot, wired from Washington that 150,000 tons of coal were moving this week under class one priority to the lakes, 50,000 tons for the western ports of Lake Michigan and 100,000 to Lake Superior. Next week 400,000 tons are to be sent under class one priority, he said. The committee today wired that of that amount 150,000 should go to Lake Michigan ports and 250,000 to Lake Superior.

Two carloads of coal left Tuesday for La Crosse from Milwaukee to meet the emergency there, the committee reported. It issued a priority order directing two cars a day to the Wisconsin Railway, Light & Power company operating at La Crosse and other Wisconsin points.

ST. JOSEPH RIDGE GIRL IS ATTACKED; GUNMAN SUSPECTED

Bernice Zanter Flees from Man
Who Tries to Seize Her;
Gunman is Suspected

THE mysterious gunman who is believed to have set fire to William Weimar's barn, on Brinkman's ridge, and later fired on Weimar's neighbors while they were fighting the fire, is believed to be the same man who tried to kidnap Bernice Zanter, 18-year-old daughter of William Zanter, who has a saloon on St. Joseph ridge Monday evening.

Miss Zanter was hanging clothes on a line in back of the house when she heard a strange noise and looking up saw a man, with arms extended, rushing toward her. She screamed and fled into the house. As soon as her father heard of his daughter's experience he seized a rifle and lantern and dashed into the yard, but the man had disappeared.

The girl's only description of the stranger was that he wore a black coat; she was too terrified to remember anything more of his description. Sheriff Miller was notified and made a quick trip to the ridge, but was unable to get any trace of the intruder, except to learn that several persons passed a man on the road who wore a dark coat and who seemed to be in a hurry. He was going in the direction of La Crosse.

M'HENRY ATTACKS BLAINE POLICIES IN A TALK HERE

Independent Republican Candidate for Governor Favors
Demands of Wets

WOULD ABOLISH COMMISSIONS
CALLED EXPENSIVE IN STATE

Oshkosh Mayor Makes Fifth
Speech of Day Here

DEMANDING the abolition of government by commissions, a uniform tax system without prejudice, repeal of state prohibition law and the legalizing by the federal government of home made wine and the manufacture and sale of good beer, Mayor A. C. McHenry of Oshkosh, independent candidate for the republican nomination for governor, addressed a good sized crowd in Riverside park here Monday night on the issues in this campaign.

In no uncertain terms Mr. McHenry flayed Governor Blaine for his affiliation with the radical element in the state, for dodging issues in this state and for maintaining an expensive state administration.

Mr. McHenry arrived in La Crosse late in the afternoon after making four speeches during the day in the southwestern part of the state, at Roschell, Kenosha, Richland Center and Virgona. He has made 39 speeches in twelve days of campaigning and today will speak at Sparta, Black River Falls, Augusta and Eau Claire.

After the Radicals
"I am after radicals in this state," said Mr. McHenry this morning before starting on his day's trip. "Whether I am running for office or not I am going to camp on the trail of the radicals in this state until they are driven out of politics. I am against the Nonpartisan League and socialism and all that they represent."

Mr. McHenry was introduced to his audience last night by his oldest son, who is serving as his campaign secretary.

Taxation is one of the biggest issues in this campaign, he said. "The only way to reduce taxes is to reduce the cost of running the government," he declared, following this with arguments showing how the commissions and the cost of prohibition are keeping taxes high in the state.

Apologies for his citizenship were not needed, he said, telling of his ancestors and their record in past wars. His motive in running for the nomination, he said, was his personal desire to see the people have their rights for he believes the majority of Wisconsin people want a repeal or modification of the prohibition law.

Blaine has proved himself to be the "barf dodger" on all occasions, according to Mayor McHenry, and has managed to fool many people with his pardons and other means of dodging the big issues.

Urges United Party
He urged that people now use their votes to keep the republican party, the party of Lincoln and Grant together, and not allow it to be split by the radicals, headed by Blaine, and the Anti-Saloon leaguers, headed by Morgan.

"I doubt the sincerity of either," he said. "Blaine has tried to make himself known as the 'tightwad' governor" but the expenses of running the state government have increased enormously since he has been in office," he declared.

JAZZ BANDIT FORGETS TO RETURN HER WATCH; SO SHERIFF GETS HIM

IT WAS all because a lady's watch kept slipping off her slim white wrist that Wilmer Klawitter, St. Paul piano player and member of a traveling jazz band orchestra, ran afoul of the law and for several hours hovered in the shadow of the county jail.

But now all is changed. The stick-haired pouter of the ivories has restored the watch to the lady fair, Miss Ella Schmidt, and has paid the costs of the action that was started and also the fees of Albert Wolfe, attorney for Miss Schmidt. The warrant for Klawitter's arrest has been dismissed and once again he is banging away at the piano in the jazz band.

He Forgets Watch
On Aug. 5 the young lady complained to County Judge Brindley, through her attorney, that she had gone on a moonlight excursion with the youthful jazz band, he of the patented leather hair, soulful eyes and tight-fitting pinch-back coat. She wore a wrist watch, which she valued at $30. It kept slipping off her wrist. Klawitter offered to carry the watch till they landed, so she wouldn't lose it. When they arrived in town again after a delightful evening of dancing on the steamer that floated lazily along on the moon-bathed Mississippi, the watch was forgotten. The next day the jazz band-left La Crosse. The girl became worried. She had visions of her watch disappearing permanently. She swore out the warrant for Klawitter's arrest. But it was ten days before the young jazz band piano player could be located. Sheriff Miller at last found the syn-copating band-its at Kilbourn, where they had the local jazz dance devotees literally standing on their heads to the tune of their mournful, moaning, haunting melodies. So Sheriff Miller temporarily put a quietus on the piano player of the jazz band-outfit by bringing Klawitter back to La Crosse. They arrived in the middle of the morning. Klawitter ate one of the justly famous dinners served at the county basile and, after an afternoon of more or less frenzied wiring to his parents in St. Paul finally rounded up the necessary simpletons to straighten out the tangle.

And so he was allowed to go his way, whereat he rejoined the jazz band-its and resumed his wandering o'er the keys, the ivories, in the syn-copated band.

The Watch!
The watch, the watch! Aba-daba-daba, the watch! Oh yes, the watch was returned to Miss Schmidt. Klawitter had it all the time and turned it over to the sheriff as soon as he came for him.

FRENCH BLAME END OF LONDON MEETING ON GERMAN POLICY

Assert Berlin Runs Down Mark in Order to Convince World of Bankruptcy

CLAIM REDUCTION OF BILL
WOULD BE GERMAN VICTORY

Declare France Can't Pay Her
Bills if Delay is Given

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The French delegation to the allied conference in London in a long statement to the Havas agency declares its position at the break up of the meeting, after that the delegation showed patience and moderation throughout and declares that Germany is persevering in a policy calculated to make Europe believe she is in a state of bankruptcy.

Claim German Trick
Germany's plan of action, said the statement, explained the systematic depreciation of her currency. She was certain to ruin her own credit in the operation, but counted on the allies being forced to favor an international loan and thus restore her credit. She hoped that the first credit operation for her would be made possible without coercion or pledges, and if the operation produced twenty billion marks for reparations she would consider she had paid enough.

Her situation then would be better than that of the victorious allies, since she would have only a small foreign debt and her industry would be in full activity. Thus she would resume in Europe and the world, at the expense of the allies, the economic hegemony wrested from her by the four years of war. The French delegation wishes to oppose an equitable and rational program to this German scheme.

Refuse Moratorium
The statement gives in detail the proceedings of the London conference and declares the French delegation was obliged to reject the last proposal to grant a brief moratorium because the France would be put in the position of receiving requests for payment of her creditors while totally without resources against her former enemy debtors.

There will be a meeting of the picnic committee of the city officials in the park commissioners' office Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Preliminary arrangements for the annual city officials picnic will be made at that time.

REFER WAGE OFFER TO MEN CLEVELAND.—By The Associated Press.—The executive board of the International Seamen's union decided today to refer to the membership the offer made Monday by the Lake Carriers' association, of a wage raise.

Like Prairie Du Chien Case

These investigating the murder draw attention to the similarity of the Balzer slaying and the assault at Horrigan farm near Prairie du Chien, a few weeks ago, in which El-len Horrigan was brutally beaten while her brothers were at work in the fields. Robbery is thought to have been the motive in that case. It is probable that Detective Hoelt, in charge of the investigation, will make a trip to the Kickapoo valley in the hopes of picking up a clue in the Balzer case.

MOST SOFT COAL MINES MAKE TERMS; HARD COAL MEN SETTLE WEDNESDAY

Operators Who Refuse Union Terms Bolt Meeting; Majority of Employers Accept; Mines May Start Work Wednesday

WASHINGTON.—The brightest ray of light in the darkened industrial situation appeared Tuesday from the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania, where persons in close touch with the situation expressed the belief that chances for quick and satisfactory settlement of the long-drawn-out strike of union miners were good. Definite results from the meeting in Philadelphia Wednesday of Pennsylvania operators with President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, were predicted. Senator Pepper of that state, who is acting for President Harding, was instrumental in bringing about the conference. He said "There seems no doubt an adjustment of all differences for the time being at least will be accomplished."

Senator Hopeful
Senator Pepper Monday night had a long conference with President Harding and Secretary Hoover at the White House. The president, Senator Pepper said, had been given all the details of his negotiations with the operators and that it seemed evident that the conference at Philadelphia "will be held in an atmosphere of entire sincerity."

No intimation was given as to the basis on which the settlement is being negotiated. It was believed possible, however, that if at least a temporary settlement should result from the Philadelphia conference an agreement might be reached for the creation of a presidential or congressional commission to adjust future wage difficulties.

Expect Settlement
PHILADELPHIA.—The conference of anthracite coal operators and union representatives, which, it is predicted, will result in an immediate resumption of operations in the hard coal fields, will open Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the offices of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation company.

Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, reiterated his belief that the meeting would result in an early settlement of the strike and that the 155,000 coal diggers idle since April 1, would be back in the mines within a few days.

Optimism prevailed in the rank and file of the men. Reports from Hazelton and other points in the hard coal regions said there had been much rejoicing when it became known that arrangements had been made for reopening the negotiations on the basis of the old wage scale.

DOLLAR DAY BIG SALES EVENT ON NEXT THURSDAY

Exceptional Merchandising Opportunities Offered to Shoppers Here

This issue of the Tribune and Leader-Press carries the Dollar Day announcements of the merchants of La Crosse. The midsummer Dollar Day is one of the most important of these events, coming, as it does in between seasons when stocks must be cleaned in order to make room for fall merchandise.

Thursday will, therefore, see a most unusual assortment of Dollar Day bargains. Many merchants go into the market to buy special items for this event, as at this time of year the jobbers have surplus stocks that they are glad to sell at close prices. The merchants buy these goods and pass the resulting savings along to their customers.

It will pay those who intend to do Dollar Day shopping to make up their shopping lists from this paper. Every advertisement contains welcome news for thrifty buyers. It will be worth while to read each one carefully.

CANADIAN ROADS CUT PAY DESPITE THREAT OF STRIKE

NO GLEAM OF HOPE SEEN AS RAIL STRIKE SPREADS; SCORES OF TRAINS STOPPED

HARDING TO MEET BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS FOR NEW ATTEMPT

U. P. Trainmen Back to Work,
Santa Fe Still Out, Sporadic
Walkouts Elsewhere

CHICAGO, Ill.—By the Associated Press.—Few new developments had changed the nation's grave railroad situation Tuesday.

Efforts to settle the shopmen's strike and end sporadic walkouts by train crews here little fruit. The country, cheered by news of a break in the coal strike, got little encouragement in the rail crisis.

White House Marks Time

Replies of the rail unions to President Harding's latest proposals for peace were deferred pending further conferences of union leaders at Washington. Union officials arranged to meet again with spokesmen for the administration. Although the rail strike was expected to occupy considerable of the cabinet meeting, President Harding indicated no intention of going immediately before Congress with the situation. The house reconvened Tuesday after a recess since June 30.

Although little progress was made toward ending the walkout of "Big Four" transportation brotherhoods on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the strike of Union Pacific trainmen was called off and four east-bound trains left immediately for Chicago.

Santa Fe trains, stalled for several days at desert towns in California, Arizona and New Mexico, were moved westward. Although movement of these trains brought relief to marooned passengers, Las Vegas, N. M., remained isolated due to the tie-up.

Santa Fe Demands Show-Down

An ultimatum to "Big Four" brotherhood chiefs from A. G. Wells, vice president of the Santa Fe, intensified the situation on that road. Mr. Wells said that if Santa Fe crews refused to return to work the roads "only alternative would be to employ others to fill the places of strikers." His demands for explicit answers on the attitude of brotherhood officials brought a response from W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, that vice presidents of the union had been instructed to enforce working agreements with the railroad.

Fruit growers and shippers of north central Washington announced their willingness to man trains for moving the $25,000,000 fruit crop of the district.

A passenger train, manned by a non-union crew, was operated over the Cumberland valley division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, which had been tied up by the strike. Officials announced intention of continuing, especially on lines connected with the Kentucky coal fields. Officials of the Southern Railway said immediate steps would be taken to reopen the company's shops at Knoxville, Tenn.

Trouble Starts at Muskogee

"Big Four" brotherhoods trainmen on four railroads at Muskogee, Okla., threaten to join the strike. Local chairman at Memphis, Tenn., refused to authorize a walkout of crews on roads entering that city.

Disorders in connection with the rail strike abated again during the last twenty-four hours, but a non-union shop worker at Tacoma, Wash., was stoned and beaten.

A woman was mysteriously shot when she rode past soldiers camped near the Chicago and Alton railroad shops at Bloomington, Ill.

S. P. Brotherhoods Back

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Following a conference between officials of the Southern Pacific and members of the Big Four brotherhoods at Roseville, the trainmen who went on strike Sunday night agreed to return to work shortly before two o'clock this morning, according to word reaching the Southern Pacific headquarters in Sacramento.

Shoot up Roundhouse

CHANNING, Mich.—The climax of the activities of strike sympathizers was seen here Sunday night when beginning with night the attacking party began firing with rifles into the C. M. and St. Paul roundhouse here. Two men were slightly wounded by rifle shots. The home of a car repairer was burned last week.

Friday night two men were kidnapped from the roundhouse and taken into the woods. One of them was stripped of all his clothing, beaten and made to return home naked. The other was said to have returned but cannot be located.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul has removed their men from the roundhouse here and it is said they will close down the local shops until the danger ceases.

Back to Work at Iron River

IRON RIVER, Mich.—All engineers and firemen who were striking here claiming that the equipment in which they were forced to go out was unsatisfactory and dangerous returned to work Monday afternoon.

Refuses U. S. Guards

SUPERIOR, Wis.—United States Marshal W. R. Chellis, in conference with officials of two railroads, county and police authorities Monday, refused the request of the Great Northern railroad company to furnish 12 deputies to guard the local property of the company.

Want A. F. of L. General Strike

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Resolutions asking the American Federation of Labor to call a nation-wide general strike and requesting President Harding to have an investigation made of "air brake equipment in connection with the numerous accidents occurring throughout the country," have been adopted by the Central Trades and Labor union of St. Louis.

Tie Up 2 Trains

HURON, S. D.—A freight engine and a switch engine on the Chicago and Northwestern railway were tied up here late yesterday when engine-men refused to operate them, claiming they were unsafe.

1,200 Trainmen Strike

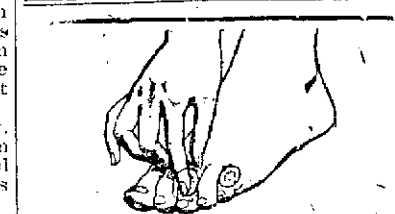

CORBIN, Ky.—By The Associated Press.—Twelve hundred trainmen, members of the "Big Four" brotherhoods employed on the Cumberland division of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, left their trains at ten o'clock Monday morning.

Ask Leave to Quit

RATON, N. M.—Local officials of the Big Four brotherhoods here have wired to national headquarters for sanction for a walkout of all members of the organization employed on the Santa Fe road here.

"Pay, Pay, Pay!"

THE spirited position of the American Legion and of the Wisconsin University Gun and Blade club upon the comment of Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer relating to the hospitalization of ill and disabled soldiers of the World War, will have the hearty approval of American citizens generally. The dispute arose over the feeling that the provisions of the Langley bill were not being carried out with the expedition required by the emergency of unfortunate soldiers, and that the department had adopted a penurious attitude toward the appropriation for the effectuation of its terms. General Sawyer's conclusion that the existence of considerable more than 1,000 beds in excess to those actually in use disclosed hospitalization as developed somewhat in advance of actual need is answered by a direct statement to the effect that too many beds in sections of the country where they are not available is no answer at all to the pressing demand for beds in many quarters where the need is urgent.

However, it is not necessary to go into the debate between General Sawyer and Colonel Sprague. The average person will consider his information sufficient if he shall have read the two following paragraphs taken from General Sawyer's letter to the American Legion leader:

Up to the present the whole subject of the World War Veteran has been one largely of sentiment by many people. A year and a half ago when I came to my office in Washington, there were not minutes enough in the day to give attention to the people who were so sympathetic with the World War Veteran and wanting to do something special for him. Today the story is very different. Few are there indeed who have particular concern.

I am opposed to the domination of people outside of the government forces in this matter. I respect and will always regard with the greatest respect the opinions of any who may have opinions to offer and they will all be considered when occasion demands, but if the government is to be influenced by outside organizations, associations or specialists' committee, we will continue to be in trouble.

America owes to its service men achievement of a program which is well defined both in enacted or potential law and in public opinion. It includes a respectable bonus, the task of restoring debilitated men to independence by educational processes which fit them for human service, and the hospitalization and other means of curing those who still suffer physical ills. It is no compliment to this country that this entire program has not been put into effect. The bill is long overdue, and Uncle Sam has had value received for the utmost of these compensations.

In the order of their importance, hospitalization is the first consideration, and despite ample legislation to effectuate it, the job remains half done, and that it is being performed with a lack of sympathy and seeming reluctance strikes us as a shame upon those who are responsible. When General Sawyer refers to these life-and-death problems of the soldier as "sentimentality" and avers that even this sentimentality is wearing off, he displays incapacity for his high task and insults the American people. His resentment of what he calls "domination of people outside the government" is merely impatience with public judgment which has found expression through soldiers' organizations and through citizens whose patriotism has led them to espouse the cause of the disabled soldier. It will be well for General Sawyer to understand that the people of the United States do not expect him to adopt a penny-saving policy with the men who suffered from their service to Uncle Sam. What is expected by 100,000,000 Americans is that this job shall be done fully and intelligently, and that the amplitude of accommodations shall not be interfered with by the possibility that when the sick soldier is cured or buried there may be no further need for the quarters he occupied.

It is about time for President Harding to take a hand. It is about time for a great many more Americans to apply "domination" to the department. Today we are ashamed of what the government has not done for the wounded or shell-shocked Yanks. Soon we shall have to be ashamed of what we, as citizens, have not done to compel the government to take the proper action. Let's all take a shot at General Sawyer by mail or wire.

"You may fire when ready, Gridley!"

"Censored"

WILL HAYS, official dry cleaner for the motion picture industry, says the producers are going to attack censorship by eliminating the necessity for it.

The theatrical profession has been fighting censorship so long that the earliest records are lost. Modern boards of censors date from 1642 when the Long Parliament in England suppressed the theater entirely. Chief reason for this, according to the elder Disraeli, was that the members of Parliament had smarted so much under the satirical whips of the dramatists. This censorship was political, as all forms of censorship tend to become unless they are curbed by the will of the people. Theatricals eventually had to be permitted again in England, because the politicians could not stand up under the brilliant sarcasm of songs and petitions circulated by stage writers. Most famous of these was the "Rump Song." Here's part of it:

Now while you reign, our low petition craves
That we, the king's true subjects and your slaves,
May in our comic mirth and tragic rage
Set up the theater and show the stage—
This shop of truth and fancy, where we vow
Not to act anything you disallow.
We will not dare at your strange votes to jeer
Or personate King Pym with his state-deer.
Your tragedies more real are expressed;
You murder men in earnest, we in jest.

Actors at that time had the legal status of vagabonds. But the battle between the stage and politicians kept on until the stage won.

Censorship in 1922. Censorship in 1642. The critics are stewing about it now, as they were nearly three centuries ago. People seem to have the same basic troubles and problems, in varying degrees, in one generation as in the next.

Her First Case

BY M. McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Nora frowned. The long line before the cashier's window was the last and worst of her morning be-devilments. She had hoped to be almost first in such a line, but waiting for the necessary check had consumed a precious half hour, then she had been buttonholed in the office by a woman with a mission, like a grievance, from whom she had escaped by the skin of her teeth—the same being pretty badly frayed. To find so many folk ahead was distinctly aggravating. It was nearly noon—her breakfast had been meager. Having cash assets of less than two dollars besides the precious check, she had tried to content herself with oatmeal and black coffee. Now a healthy appetite was strongly rebellious.

The line moving jerkily, halting now and then, at last brought her to the window. She thrust in her check, and almost immediately there was a flutter of green paper on the glass shelf. With a relieved sigh she stepped out of rank, and ran over the bills with faintly trembling fingers. At the last bill the fingers actually shook—it was double—instead of one ten she held two. Impulsively she crushed back to the window, saying: "There is a mistake—Before she could say more the superior being inside the cage flung at her frowning: "Madam this bank never makes mistakes—it wishes you women could or would learn to count money."

"Pardon me! We so lack practice," Nora retorted, turning toward the street entrance, then suddenly wheeling about to see down the long vista a sign at the end reading "President."

Half a minute later she faced the president, grim, gray, and reputed a tartar—but that she did not know. She flung at him: "Please, sir, is it true this bank never makes mistakes?" her voice steady enough though her knees shook a bit.

"I am not rash enough to say 'yes' nor foolish enough to say 'no,'" the president answered, rising from his chair. "But why the question?"

"This—these, rather," Nora reported, laying the two bills in front of him. "Just now I presented at your second window a check for $25, drawn by Cross & Leroy to order of Elmer Maxwell. It was overpaid, as your see when I told the man there was a mistake he waved me away insolently."

"H-m! Not like Weston. He's a careful fellow," commented the banker. "Sure you don't bear him a grudge?"

"No more than, as a cad, he insults me by existing," Nora flashed back, her head going up. The banker smiled grimly, asking: "Well, then, why didn't you pocket the money and go along rejoicing?"

"Not enough of it. I hate cheapness, though my hat does shout $5 cents, marked down from a dollar," Nora countered, her eyes beginning to dance. "Now if it had been a million or even half one—"

"What have you have done?" the gray man asked, a ronaizer man at a window beyond Nora's parview was smiling outright, evidently restraining laughter.

"Beat it for home and my poor niggers," Nora cried joyously, "as fast as I could go."

"Where is home?" from the inquisitor.

"Alabama," from Nora. "Grandpa's land has had no other owners than Maxwells since the Indian times. He just managed to keep a little ahead of the factors' mortgage till 5-cent cotton came—in 1914, you know. It ruined him—and worse."

"Half the land went to settle with the factors the other half barely kept us and our people from starving. You see, the niggers had been in the family since there was a family. It was hard, hard to see them go hungry and ragged but we didn't let them quite die. When I read of all that was done for folk on the other side it made me sick to think plain American suffering went unheeded."

"Suffering?" the banker broke in incredulously.

She nodded. "If you call a Christmas dinner of plain asheals, without even a scrap of meat or molasses, good food, perhaps there wasn't any; but take my word for it, all that fall and winter persimmon bread was our greatest luxury."

The younger man stirred and started to speak. His older's eye compelled silence. "So you would take your look and squander it in charity," he said.

Nora faced him dauntlessly, answering:

"If the bank stands to its cashier that it makes no mistakes where would the loot come in, especially after it had been warned of a mistake?"

"It wouldn't come in. I'm a lawyer—I know," the young man said, coming forward.

Nora smiled at him roguishly. "I am not only hoping to be some day," she said. "That's how I'm here."

"You've won your first case, Miss Maxwell," the banker said, bowing. "But I'd pay you a good fee if you hadn't made the case. I hate like everything to dismiss Weston. He is newly promoted; think it must have gone to his head."

"Then don't fire him," Nora said compassionately. "Job hunting is so disheartening. I know."

"May I ask what your job is?" the interlocutor said.

She answered gravely, though with twinkling eyes: "I'm the original candy girl; get twenty-five a week for making models warranted to fetch the flapper and equally engage her elder sisters."

"You study?" the banker began.

"Night school," Nora interrupted. "Has to be that or nothing. Pity I wasn't born a boy. I love law so well, and then there have been such lawyers in our line. If only I can make good granddaddy will be so happy. Even heaven wouldn't be all right for him if he had to know that the last of us was a rank failure."

"You won't?" Banker Lewis said confidently. "Thank you for the trouble you have taken to set this matter right. Isn't there something the bank can do to show appreciation?"

"Surely! Slip back that measly ten and say nothing about it till next week," Nora broke in gayly, adding almost wistfully: "Also something personal. Please tell me where I can get real food without waiting too long."

"It will be better to show you," Mr. Lewis interrupted. "We'll take Miss Lane, my secretary, and John Lewis Cope, my scapegrace nephew, to make the party complete."

A thrill amounting almost to a riot went through the establishment when the limousine rolled away with four inside. It whirled the four across town to the lower city's most famous luncheon place. There Nora, forgetful of her $8-cent hat, her mended gloves, ate daintily but with keen relish such food as she had not tasted before. Afterward she was sent to a matinee in charge of Miss Lane, the men bowing themselves away at their courtliest, the elder of them saying: "Be sure we shall keep track of you," and the younger looking things he lacked courage to say. Possibly he found the courage later, since the week after she passed a brilliant examination and was duly admitted to the bar. Miss Nora Maxwell became Mrs. John Lewis Cope, but so quietly hardly a breath of it got into print. There would likely have been columns had it leaked out that Banker Lewis had settled a quarter million on the bride, besides giving his nephew whereat to buy back Maxwellton, a big plantation down in Alabama.

OUT OUR WAY

PEGGY PROVES SHE'S A GOOD SPORT

By ZOE BECKLEY.

As the two cars started for New York, scarcely a word came from the occupants of either.

At the door of the apartment house in which the Deans and Hollises lived, the good-nights were stiff and brief. Not until Winnie's parents and Peggy and her mother were in their home did the long-suppressed storm begin.

"Winifred," Mr. Hollis addressed his daughter in the coldly polite tone she had always most feared on the occasions when even the right-minded Winnie had need of rebuke, "will you please explain why you spent the night here? your examinations tearing around the country in a disreputable automobile party?"

Poor Winnie, exhausted by the night's events but too good a sport to seek an easy escape by telling the truth, essayed still one last defensive struggle.

"I'm really too tired, father, to put up a good defense," she said. "And if I fail in tomorrow's exams—today's, this afternoon's—I think you'll find it punishment enough for me. Won't you let me go to bed now?"

"I'll be the judge of punishment," began Mr. Hollis severely. But suddenly Peggy, from where she had stood discreetly in the far corner of the big library, advanced with a certain firmness of purpose in her face.

She was weary to the last degree of endurance. All her hard, defiant fire was out. Only a spiritless despair was left.

"Listen, Uncle Ralph, Winnie has done nothing you could disapprove of. Quite the opposite. I called Bob Vanderpool on the telephone to take me out for a ride when he—got home."

"Winnie tried to stop me and I wouldn't pay attention. When Bobby came, Win went along as chaperone. That's all there is to it."

Mr. Hollis' expression changed. "Thanks, Peggy." His glance sought the eyes of his sister, Peggy's mother. "And—forgive me, Win. Good night, my dear." He kissed his daughter courteously and, with his wife, left the room.

Winnie went up to her cousin and put her arms round her. "You're a good sport, Peg!" The two kissed affectionately and Winnie went out without further remark, leaving Peggy with her mother.

Mrs. Dean had been coldly awaiting the explanation. Peggy, whose defiance flickered into life once more at her mother's stern face, waited in silence the dreaded interview.

"Peggy," Mrs. Dean began, "we came home from the yacht club at half-past one. I supposed you were asleep, having prepared for today's examinations."

"Instead, imagine my amazement when Mrs. Vanderpool informed me over the telephone you had called up Bobby—but I couldn't go over it."

"If it is you who will tell me what you mean by this evening's disreputable doings. Proceed."

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

BY BERTON BRALEY
My gosh, I get weary of rain.
It seems to seep into my brain.
I hate wet weather I don't mind a bit.
But when it continues it drives me a bit.
And whether in country or town,
Jupe Playus gives me a pain.
I growl and I scowl and I frown—
My gosh, I get weary of rain.

I knew it is "good for the crops."
But I like it best when it stops.
And if it pours steadily, day after day,
I warn you distinctly, keep out of my way.
I rant and I rave and I roar,
I bite little babies in twain.
I swear at the skies as they pour—
My gosh, I get weary of rain.

It's no fun to walk or to drive,
I feel just one quarter alive.
You cannot play tennis or golf in the wet.
And—inside the house, oh, how grouchy!

Come, Jupiter Pluvius, have a heart;
From sending down showers re-train.
Away, get, skeddaddie, depart!
My gosh, I get weary of rain.

GREATLY INTERESTED

"The milkmaids of Jamaica are one of the wonders of the island," reported a prominent Bradford (Pa.) business man, after a stay in Montego Bay, Jamaica, B. W. I. "They can carry large cans of milk from mountain ranges to markets on their heads, and never even move the cans as they sell and pour out the milk. They go upstairs and down, and are so adept that when they start up a flight they can begin to fill their pitebers, measuring the amount by the number of steps taken. I watched them many times with great interest and delight."

A Walkover
Among the many amusing stories which Mr. Eugene Corri has at his command is one concerning a prize fight which occurred in America. ALBANIAN REPUBLIC HOPEFULLY WAITING RECOGNITION BY U. S.

Small Nation Needs Support of America and Europe if it is to Survive

TIRANA, Albania.—Albania's hope of recognition by the United States has been revived with the visit here of Maxwel Black, formerly consul general in Morocco, who was sent by the American state department to report upon the political situation. Since its admittance to the league of nations 18 months ago, Albania has been striving hard to establish a stable government and to win the confidence and respect of the nations of the world.

Many of the European countries have recognized Albania as a nation, and the natives cannot understand why the United States has not followed suit. Albania supports a consul at New York, who looks after Albania's commercial interests, issues visas for passports, etc., but who is not recognized officially by the state department.

Albania is extremely poor and primitive, and will require friendly support from Europe and America if it is to retain its statehood and national entity. It is smaller in area than the state of Vermont, and has less people than the city of Boston. Mohammedans and Christians are about equally represented in its million and a half population.

While the Albanians have many failings, due to centuries of evil influences by invaders, honesty and fidelity are strong traits in their character. They are a hearty, hospitable people. Visitors to their country, especially Americans who have been so sympathetic toward them in their struggle for national existence, are treated with the utmost cordiality.

SCIENCE TEXTBOOKS TO HARMONIZE WITH BIBLE ARE PLANNED

Baptists Oppose Tendency of Present Textbooks to Discredit

it Bible as Word of God
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—By the Associated Press.—Complying with the instruction of the Southern Baptist convention, the education board has named a committee to make an effort to locate Christian scholars who are competent to write first-class text books in the various sciences that will not "seek to discredit the Christian conception of the Bible as the inerrant Word of God."

The committee consists of Drs. W. C. James, correspondence secretary; A. R. Bond, editorial secretary; J. E. Dillard, former acting corresponding secretary and present pastor of the Southside Baptist church; J. C. Stivender and Mrs. J. C. Sharps, all of this city.

The education board, carrying out another order of the convention, has named a commission on standardization for southern Baptist schools. It organized with the election of M. E. Adams, president of Georgetown college, Georgetown, Ky., as chairman, and Dr. A. R. Bond of this city, as secretary.

The commission will seek to bring all of the 120 Baptist schools in the south up to the best standards adopted by the educational world in the matter of curricula, faculties, equipment and endowment in the course of the next few years. It will also urge upon the denomination a fuller financial support of the schools to make the attainment of these standards possible.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calamine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Flushing and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get the blackheads out after they become hard. The calamine powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

To Banish Wrinkles and Freshen Up Quickly

After a strenuous day outdoors, when winds, heat and exhaustion have combined to take away one's freshness and caused the skin to wrinkle and sag—or after a tedious or fretful day indoors—one often has urgent need for some quick rejuvenator. Maybe there's a dance on for the evening, or some other social event. How in the world can one make herself presentable, looking as she does? It's quite easy. Just get an ounce of powdered saxonite and a half pint witch hazel at the nearest drug store, mix the two, and bathe the face in the solution for two or three minutes. Then look into your mirror and behold the wonderful transformation! Wrinkles have vanished, loose, tired muscles have been rested and "firmed up," marks of fatigue have flown, and you look so much brighter and younger you can hardly believe your eyes. No one need hesitate to try this, the witch hazel and saxonite being perfectly harmless.

Studyin' More Fun Than Fishin'

Under New Grammar School Plan

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

LOS ANGELES—Shades of all hooky-playing rebels against painful education—can this be true? School as much fun as swimming and fishing? Kids eager for examinations. No nervousness, heartbreak or fear of failure. Joyous progress at twice the old speed.

Dr. A. H. Sutherland has achieved the marvel on a wholesale scale in Los Angeles grammar schools.

His directorship of psychology and educational research here, and 15 years' connection with the University of Illinois, Yale and other big institutions have given him national reputation as scientist and educator.

With the reopening of grammar school in a few days, he'll put his principles at work on a still broader scale.

His systems practiced in experimental classrooms, abolishes mass grading, adjusts the curriculum to individual needs and permits progress to pupils' capacity.

"The child's mental age is first determined," explains Dr. Sutherland. "And his lessons are fixed accordingly."

"He progresses just as fast as he is able and himself determines when he is ready for examination for higher levels."

Stress, fear, half-learning give way to joy, self-confidence and real mental development. There is no laziness, no malingering. On the contrary, hitherto backward pupils, largely so because misplaced, force ahead on their own initiative.

"Results spell genuine education. The notion, fostered by our haphazard grade rating, that children must be forced and driven to study, is all wrong."

"Fit the task, the problems, to their capacity, and they advance fully twice as fast as the present grammar school average."

During the first 20-week experiment in adjusted individual education in Los Angeles, 97 pupils taken from the second to the fifth grades made average progress of 39 weeks, the slowest being 12, the highest 73. And this represented only half time study.

Previous to that 5,000 misfit pupils had been put through special adjustment rooms showing that 10 weeks' training insured a year's advance, with but six per cent partial failures. Here's no yawning, spit-ball pelting or morose idleness. In word, act and record, these joyfully busy schoolkids hear out Dr. Sutherland's claims. Discipline isn't needed. The youngsters are too interested in progress to "waste time."

JOHN SMITH SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR AT WAUPUN
Charged with deserting and failing to support his two minor children, John Smith, former city fireman, was sentenced to one year at Waupun by Judge Brindley this afternoon. Smith was arraigned on this charge once before, accused of spending too much time with Dollie Quinn and not doing for his children. Smith promised to be good and keep away from Miss Quinn, but the authorities alleged he failed to keep his promise. He pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to support his children.

KENOSHA, Wis.—Seven new warrants charging embezzlement and the conversion of bank funds were served on William G. Schlecht, defaulting cashier of the Silver Lake State bank, when he appeared in court Friday morning for his preliminary hearing on four similar warrants sworn out several weeks ago. The shortages have jumped from $9,000 to $29,950. Schlecht's relatives are attempting to raise funds to cover the shortages. The new warrants brought a two weeks postponement of the hearing to give the defaulting banker an opportunity to prepare his defense.

D'ANNUNZIO HURT IN FALL FROM WINDOW BUT WILL RECOVER

Famous Soldier Poet Tumbles Seven Feet to Garden Path and Lands on Head

CARDONE RIVIERA, Italy.—Impressment in the condition of Gabriele D'Annunzio, famous Italian soldier-poet, who was seriously injured in a fall at his villa here Sunday, is indicated in a bulletin issued last night by Dr. Donati, professor of surgery of Padua university. Doctors have prohibited anyone from entering the villa. D'Annunzio is verging on unconsciousness.

The accident occurred while D'Annunzio was at the window of his villa. It is supposed that he was seized with dizziness and fell seven feet to a gravel path.

A bulletin issued by his physicians today said there were signs of a fracture of the base of the skull, but this had not been verified. The right arm was affected and there was some concussion of the brain, which today appeared to be diminishing.

A NEW THEORY

Cuthbert had been listening for half an hour to a lecture from his father on the evils of late nights and late nights in the morning.

"You will never amount to anything," said the father, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember, it's the early bird that catches the worm."

"Ha, ha," laughed Cuthbert. "How about the worm? What did he do for turning out so early?"

"My son," replied the father, "what you didn't know is that he didn't turn over a new leaf until he was in his very home."—Pittsburgh Courier.

LILA LEE, at the Riviera tonight in "The Dictator."

SENATE WILL DELAY SHIP SUBSIDY ACTION UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

HOUSE MAY VOTE BUT SENATE WILL WAIT FOR NOV. 7

Bill Provides Aid to Vessels and Sale of Fleet to Private Owners

WASHINGTON, "You of the fry," began into the fray seems to be the future immediately ahead of the United States senate.

For no reason will the senate have concluded with the tariff bill, which has split party ranks wide open, than it will be confronted with the administration's ship subsidy measure, over which a scarcely less bitter battle seems certain.

The house will take up the subsidy bill soon after it reassembles August 15, following its midsummer recess. Hearings already have been conducted. Action by the house before the middle of September is considered probable.

Drags in Senate

But there will be no vote on ship subsidy in the senate at this session.

Even if the tariff bill is finally cleared by the time the senate passes the subsidy measure, the senate will wait until after the election in November to indicate the direction and violence of prevailing political winds.

The aim of the subsidy bill, officially entitled "A Bill to Amend and Supplement the Merchant Marine Act of 1920," is to get the government's vast merchant fleet into private hands and into the business of carrying world commerce.

But the senate, taking the view that there isn't an over-abundance of commerce requiring shipping just now, but that there is a noticeable volume of political dissatisfaction and unrest, believes nothing will be lost but much gained by proceeding with caution.

What Bill Provides

Vessels now owned by the government would be sold to private operators under terms allowing 15 years to complete payment with four per cent interest on unpaid balances.

A loan fund of $125,000,000 would be established from which private shipowners could borrow two-thirds of the money necessary to build new vessels.

Such loans would be made for 15 years and two per cent annual interest.

Owners of American merchant vessels, in computing net income for taxation, would be permitted to deduct a sum equal to the income derived from operation in foreign trade.

However, these investment double the amount of the resulting saving in taxes in building new vessels in American yards.

Shipping Board Function

The direct subsidy provisions of the bill authorizes and directs the shipping board to enter into contracts, on behalf of compensation to vessels owned by American citizens and under American registry.

Contracts may run for periods of 10 years, and the government payments would be made at least every six months. The amount paid would be based on the speed and tonnage of the respective vessels.

Regardless of speed, one-half cent for each gross ton, for each 100 miles is proposed. In addition, vessels capable of 12 knots an hour or more would be paid an additional sum in proportion to speed, up to two cents a gross ton on every 100 miles for vessels of 25 knots or over.

How Much It Costs

What it would mean may be indicated by computing what Uncle Sam would pay a fast 10,000-ton carrier between New York and Europe.

FOR THE SHIP SUBSIDY

BY ALBERT D. LASKER, Chairman, United States Shipping Board

WASHINGTON.—Whether America is to be potent on the seas for the next several generations will be decided in the disposition by congress of the pending legislation, proposed by the president for the aid and rebuilding of our merchant marine.

First—What shall be done with the government's vast war-built merchant fleet?

Second—What shall be done to end the large losses of governmental operation?

Third—What shall be done to insure the overseas carriage of America's surplus products?

Fourth—Whether America, through an adequate merchant marine, shall be self-sustaining and self-sufficient on the seas in war.

These have always been two schools of thought in connection with government aid to shipping, that which stands for direct aid in the form of cash subsidies, and that which stands for indirect aid through preferences given the home flag.

The proponents of indirect aid can have no quarrel with the pending bill. For it carries every practical indirect and possible to give.

But we must go on or nothing. We seek substance, not shadows. Until the indirect aids have proved what they can do—until American ships have a greater volume of business we must have some measure of direct aid.

AGAINST THE SHIP SUBSIDY

BY DUNCAN U. FLETCHER, Ranking Democratic Member, Senate Commerce Committee

WASHINGTON.—The pending bill to amend and supplement the merchant marine act of 1920 is a deceptive entrance. It is a false light. It means wreckage.

The vision of a merchant marine coming out of this bill is a deceptive entrance. It is a false light. It means wreckage.

At the risk of being charged with socialism, I would have the shipping board, through the corporation take over and operate all their ships, precisely as the government now operates the Panama Steamship Line and the United States Line, besides political appointees who are simply in each other's way, close that door to job hunters, time servers, the inexperienced and incompetent, and then systematically the work, putting it on a strictly commercial basis.

Eventually private ownership and management will come. But careful, sympathetic and intelligent supervision in the interests of American commerce, not a lavish bestowal of subsidies and subsidies, must pave the way.

vessel would draw two and a half cents a gross ton on every 100 miles, on the 3,000-mile trip to Europe, a fast 10,000-ton ship would earn in direct subsidy $250 a mile, $7,500 for the voyage over, or $15,000 for the round trip.

U. S. BONDS SLICED NEAR 350 MILLION IN TWELVE MONTHS

Reductions Through Payments by Foreign Nations and
by Sinking Fund

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A total of $347,733,900 of Liberty bonds and Victory notes were retired during the last fiscal year by the treasury at a cost of $238,849,899 out of repayments of principal by foreign governments and through the operations of the sinking fund, it was reported by Secretary Mellon.

Bonds retired by foreign repayments were 4-4 per cent bonds of the third loan totaling $61,837,900 face amount at a cost of $61,367,997. Repayments included $32,511,994 by the French government; $20,500,000 by the British government on account of Pittman silver; $878,500 by the Cuban government; $440,553 by the Belgian government, and $48,684,000 by the Serbian government. "For the most part," Secretary Mellon said, "these payments were made on special account or by way of adjustment of accounts and should not be taken to indicate that any general program of repayment of the foreign obligations has begun."

WOMAN HINTS BLAINE HAS STOPPED DRY ENFORCEMENT AS MOVE IN CAMPAIGN

MADISON, Wis.—State prohibition agents, "appointed directly or indirectly by Governor J. J. Blaine, have mysteriously vanished from wet counties during the past two weeks," Ellen L. Minahan, prominent school woman of Milwaukee, said Tuesday in a letter to Mrs. Robert M. La Follette and Mrs. Blaine.

"Tell us dry women where they went and why they went," she requested of the wives of the candidates for United States senator and governor.

"Does not their disappearance look like a wet campaign move, and will they again reappear to attend to their duties after election?" she asked.

"Letters inform us that in your campaign talks you attack the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League for opposing re-election of Governor Blaine," the letter continued.

"Your talks convey the impression that the league is the only body opposing the governor.

"Permit me to inform you that the women opposed Governor Blaine two years ago and are still more strenuously opposed to his re-election at this time chiefly because of his record during the last legislature and his attitude during the present campaign." After naming a list of alleged millionaire contributions to the funds of the association against the prohibition act, said to be tacitly supporting Governor Blaine, the letter asked that the speakers explain what she said were inconsistencies in the talks of the wives of the candidates.

THE STORY OF HIS LIFE

Willie Jones, always had a little more money than the other boys of his age, and he knew to a penny just how much he had. Will Jones always had more money saved out of his salary than the other young men of his age, and he knew to a dollar how much he had. William Jones had more money than the other men in the early thirties, and he vigorously denied the amount the authorities said he had. Mr. Jones, middle-aged, were estimated his wealth. Old Bill Jones bought all the art treasures of the country and let the people guess what he was worth.—Katherine Negley, in Judge.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY WILL BE FORMED THURSDAY

Meeting of Mothers, Sisters, Wives and Daughters in Chamber of Commerce

Mothers, sisters, wives and daughters of former service men are asked to meet next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce assembly hall to organize and join an American Legion Auxiliary. Roy L. Vingers Post is sponsor for the movement.

The national women's auxiliary of the American Legion came into being at the Minneapolis convention of the legion in November, 1919. Today there are more than 4,000 units of the auxiliary in 51 departments of the American Legion and more are being organized every week.

Many auxiliaries are being organized in Wisconsin cities. A sufficient number of units have been formed in fact to warrant the formation of a department of Wisconsin of the American Legion Auxiliary. The nature of the organization, as set forth in the state constitution of the auxiliary is:

"The American Legion Auxiliary shall be absolutely non-political and non-sectarian and shall not be used for the dissemination of partisan principles or for the promotion of the candidacy of any person seeking public office or preferment. No candidate for or incumbent of a salaried elective public office shall hold any office in the American Legion Auxiliary or unit thereof."

Fighting Weeds

In sections of the northwest the fruit growers cover the fields with roofing paper, cutting out round holes for the melon hills. It has been found that by this practice all weeds are smothered and there is a big saving in labor for cultivation and irrigation.

At Hvalford, Iceland, it is recorded 1,110 whales were killed in one winter.

LA CRESCENT MAN BADLY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY TAXI

Frank I. Harris, 65 years old, of La Crescent suffered serious injuries when he was struck by a taxi while standing on the La Crosse wagon bridge.

Besides a possible fractured skull, Mr. Harris suffered bruises and abrasions and his right knee was badly sprained. He was unconscious for 12 hours.

Mr. Harris was returning from a La Crosse hospital, where he had been to see his brother and was waiting on the bridge for his son to come by with his truck when the taxi struck him.

The driver of the taxi took Mr. Harris to his home. Mr. Harris, uncle of D. C. Webster, La Crescent fruit grower, is a member of the firm of Cook & Harris of La Crescent. He was reported to be resting fairly comfortably today.

Pride and Vanity

I would much rather fight pride than vanity, because pride has a stand-up way of fighting. You know where it is. It throws its black shadow on you, and you are not at a loss where to strike. But vanity is that delusive, that insectivorous, that multiplied feeling; and men that fight vanity are like men that fight widows and butterflies. It is easier to chase them than to hit them.—Henry Ward Beecher.

FROZEN MEAT FROM U. S. MAY CUT MEAT PRICES IN GERMANY

Relief in Sight from Exorbitant Prices Charged by Meat Dealers

BERLIN.—American frozen meat promises shortly to release Germany's army of bread-winners from the ring of high prices which has for some time prevailed among the retail butchers of Berlin. Local dealers are being inundated with offers from packing firms in the United States, and Hugo Stinnes, the industrial magnate, has contracted with the Argentine government for deliveries on a large scale. Representatives of Argentine dealers in Argentina are expected to be negotiating big contracts here.

With shops charging 100 to 120 marks per pound for roasting meat and proportionately high rates for other cuts, the German laboring man or the middle class worker finds it too expensive to have meat in his home more than twice a week, at the most, on his wages of four to five marks monthly. It is estimated that frozen meat from the United States can be delivered in Hamburg at 60 marks a kilogram. At present, a pound would come to some 50 or 60 marks in the retail shops of Berlin.

The situation has become so difficult for many of the poorer Germans that they have resorted to some places "consumers" buying "strikes." Shops which formerly were busy from morning till night have been obliged to close except for two days a week. The effect has been keenly felt in the Berlin stockyards, where reduced consumption has forced 500 employees out of work within the last few weeks.

One of the causes of high prices is said to be the necessity for wholesalers and stockyards to buy livestock at prices quoted on the hoof. They have fought this practice for years, claiming that 50 per cent of an animal is lost for profitable retail in having it according to live weight rather than to the poundage after slaughter.

PRUDENTIAL HEAD RESIGNS
NEWARK, N. J.—Forest P. Dyer, president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, resigned Monday and Edward D. Duff, 29, the acting president, has elected to succeed him. Mr. Dyer went to Bermuda on a leave of absence for the benefit of his health four months ago.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—No far-seeing politician of five years ago would have predicted that the bitterest fight in this country on the wet and dry question would take place in Wisconsin. But here we are, with the issue so clearly defined, that no candidate on either side thinks it worth while to camouflage it. It is squarely the return of the saloon against the support of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. The radicals headed by Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine, base their hope of success in the September primary upon the strength of the opposition to prohibition as voiced by the socialists and the outspoken anti-war Germans. The ticket headed by Gamble and Morgan is so dry that it makes the Saloon by comparison look like a spring freshet.

Because La Follette and Blaine were considered years ago to be "dry," they will doubtless hold a number of dry votes among the Norwegians who are not yet "wise" to their change of attitude. It is probable that Governor Blaine would yet be standing with the bone-dry if it had not been for Senator La Follette's insistence that his war record—a record that contains declaration made before this country entered the war and while Germany was torpedoing passenger ships and killing millions, that "Germany has been very patient with us"—must be approved. Such approval could come only from one chief element, and this element was as necessary to Blaine as to La Follette. But Blaine went over to the wets on all fours when he vetoed the Marlleson prohibition enforcement bill. The reasons alleged

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE BLEACHES FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan bleach, and complexion whitener. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.

In his veto message have never been considered worth combatting, so plain was it that the veto was for a purpose not in the slightest degree related to them.

So we have the real wet and dry fight of the country staged in Wisconsin with the prospect of Blaine's defeat by his dry opponent Morgan, and of La Follette's success through the bunching for him of the socialist and anti-war Germans and the other pronounced wets.

There are those who think that Gamble's very effective campaign spells defeat for La Follette, and this may be the result, but the conditions are not so promising as is the gubernatorial fight.

In view of the charges of tax dodging that are being so loosely made in the present political campaign, it is of interest to read what the tax commission says on the subject. Here it is:

The errors in income tax returns are due to many causes—very seldom to a deliberate intention to com-ver up income and evade the payment of a just tax. The principal causes are misapprehension of the law defining income, crude and antiquated systems of bookkeeping which do not reflect true taxable income, honest differences of opinion as to what is and what is not taxable income, overzealous clerks and bookkeepers whose duty it is to prepare returns, and that inherent trait in human nature which resolves all doubts in matters of taxation in favor of the taxpayer."

The new teachers' pension law is of interest to so many thousands of people in the State, that it is not surprising there is some confusion and misunderstanding concerning some of its provisions. The attorney general has given the department a ruling on Sub. Sec. (4) Section 42.40 of the statutes. This part of the law has been somewhat confusing to teachers. It reads as follows: "If a member before attaining age of fifty, having made required deposits for not less than a school year during each of five fiscal years immediately preceding, becomes physically or mentally incapacitated to such extent that the member is and will be wholly and presumably permanently unable to engage in any occupation or perform any work for compensation of financial value, and furnishes due proof thereof and that such disability has then existed for sixty days, the member shall be paid from the contingent fund an annuity during the continuance of such disability in monthly payments of twenty-five dollars each in addition to another benefit payable to such member."

The Attorney General's ruling is: That the total disability feature of become operative until July 1926, as no teacher will have made the required 5 per cent deposit for 5 consecutive years before this date.

TOBACCO POOL IN MADISON SESSION FOR ORGANIZATION

District Delegates Meet to Choose Directors to Market Crop

WILL MEET BANKERS TO ARRANGE FOR FINANCING

$7,500,000 Needed to Carry
Pool First Year

MADISON, Wis.—District delegates to the first meeting of the Northern Wisconsin tobacco pool gathered here Tuesday to select directors of the farmers' co-operative association which plans to market eighty per cent of the 1922 Wisconsin tobacco crop.

Six representatives from each of the sixteen districts held their meeting with the state department of markets. Consideration was first given the by-laws of the organization and attention then turned to the naming of the sixteen directors from among the 96 delegates present.

Control of the pooling of the Wisconsin crop of fifty million pounds of tobacco, will rest with the board of directors, who, after they are chosen, will name their officers and a managing director of the association.

When the organization of the pooling has been completed, directors and the manager to the association meet with five bankers to be named by a committee of the local clearing-house, to handle the original financing of the project. This gathering, probably Wednesday, will discuss means of providing the $7,500,000 needed to carry the pool through its first year.

The creation of a working force and establishment of a warehousing system is to be the first important task of the manager and officers of the pool. Preparations are to be set under way at once for receiving the present year crop which has been contracted for.

Do You Know These Movie Stars?

Of course you know one of them. Everybody is familiar with that wistful face. But how about the other? There, we thought you would scratch your head on that one. Well, just a little tip. The disguised features are those of a movie actor just as well known as Jackie Coogan.

We printed these pictures just to give you a little taste of "The Movie Star's Feature Contest" which starts on Thursday, Aug. 17th. Starting with the evening edition of August 17th, the La Crosse Tribune will publish each day for twelve consecutive days the picture of some famous star of First National Pictures. Each of these photos will be disguised in a manner similar to the one shown here.

The idea is to find out how familiar the La Crosse film fans are with their favorite actors and actresses. The features are not going to be so mutilated to make the guessing of them impossible, but they will be sufficiently doctored to make you think.

The contest is being conducted by the La Crosse Tribune in conjunction with the La Crosse Theatre company, as a part of the activities in "Northwest Go-to-Movie-Week," which starts Aug. 26.

The rules of the contest are given below, and also a list of the prizes. These prizes are worth trying for. Don't forget—the first picture will appear Thursday, Aug. 17th.

RULES FOR CONTEST

Everybody is eligible except employees of the La Crosse Tribune and La Crosse Theatre Co.
Clip from each issue of the La Crosse Tribune the photos, until you have the entire set of twelve.
In the blank space under each photo write the name of the star. Send the entire twelve, together with your name and address to Movie Star Contest Editor, La Crosse Tribune.

Contest closes at 10:00 a. m. Aug. 31. Last picture will be published Monday evening, Aug. 28.

Winner determined by correctness of answers and earliness of receipt. In the event of ties, prizes will be divided.

The nearest correct answer will receive 20 tickets to the Rivoli, the second 15 tickets to the Rivoli, the third 20 tickets to the Majestic and the fourth 15 Majestic tickets. Twenty prizes, ranging from five tickets to the Rivoli or the Majestic to one for either of the houses, will be distributed to those finishing behind the winners in the order of their comparative correctness.

SEEK DOUBLE OF JACKIE COOGAN TO GET A PRIZE

Three Awards to be Made to Youngsters in La Crosse
Who Resemble Boy Actor

Hey, kids! Listen to this, will you?

Jackie Coogan's trying to find his double here in La Crosse. So if you think you look anything like him, here's your chance to have some fun and at the same time win a prize. You see it's quite an honor to look like Jackie, the young star of First National pictures. That's why the Children's Department of the Doerflinger company is going to give five dollars on Thursday afternoon to the youngster who most nearly resembles Jackie Coogan. And Jackie himself has autographed two photographs of himself to be given to the next two "doubles."

Now, if you want to win one of the three prizes, just put on a costume similar to the one Jackie wears in his latest picture, "Trouble," and join the rest of the Cooganites at the Children's Department, second floor of the Doerflinger store, any time before two o'clock Thursday afternoon.

There you will be given a free ticket to the Rivoli theater where Jackie will appear in "Trouble." The audience at the matinee performance will judge as to the best understudy of "the million dollar kid."

To help you with your costume, Jackie has sent the very suit which he wore when the picture "Trouble" was filmed, here to La Crosse for you to see. The costume arrived here from Hollywood, Calif. Monday and is now on display in the window of the Doerflinger department store.

So, c'mon, look over Jackie's suit.

HARRY LEA, OLD INDIAN TRADER OF TOMAH, IS DEAD

Storekeeper. Long Friend of Winnebagoes. Aided Buffalo Bill Get Indian Performers

TOMAH, Wis.—The death of Harry Lea of Tomah occurred on August 10, and recalls to mind his services to the Winnebago Indians. For many years Mr. Lea was a trader with the Winnebagoes and on government pay-day, his tiny store in Tomah was crowded with dusky braves, squaws and papooses, who paid their good money for tobacco, groceries, cloth, and various commodities. In 1867, the government sent all of the Winnebago tribe to the northern part of the Omaha reservation in Nebraska, granting to each Indian a quarter section of timber land. Before the end of the year, two hundred Winnebagoes had travelled quietly back to Monroe county, where they settled on a bit of land owned by them. Harry Lea at this time rendered a most helpful service to the Winnebagoes, helping them to divide their land into ten acre lots, one of which fell to the head of each family. Because of the fact that the Wisconsin Winnebagoes had become citizens of the United States as land owners, they could no longer be sent away from their chosen state Wisconsin, and have since remained here.

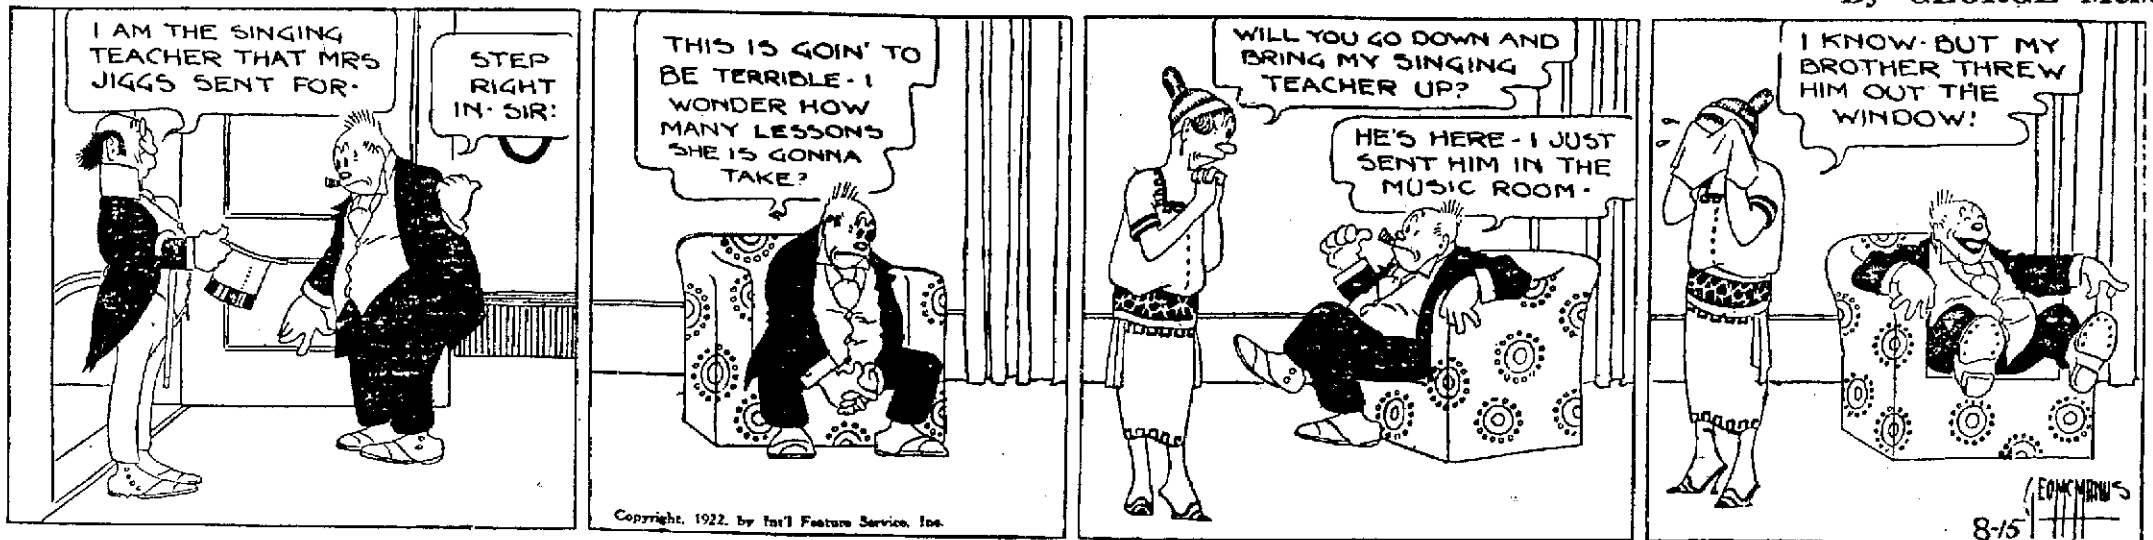

Mr. Lea had during his many years of intercourse with the Winnebagoes, become the possessor of what is probably the finest collection known of Winnebago relics, costumes, bead work and weapons. Portions of the collection have at various times been loaned to exhibits of industrial handicraft.

Mr. Lea's knowledge of Winnebago customs and ceremonials enabled him to render a signal service to William Cody, "Buffalo Bill," when the latter sent a representative to Tomah to secure the services of Mose Decorah with his Wild West show. Mr. Cody's special agent had made a long tedious journey to the Winnebago Indian village, near Watertown, Monroe county, and had failed to negotiate with the Decorah, descendant of that famous queen, Glory-of-the-Morning. A knock at the door of Harry Lea's home brought that redoubtable friend of the Winnebagoes from his warm bed. A brief consultation, and then a visit to a neighboring butcher, resulting in the purchase of an entire beef and hog. Armed with these gifts, the pair interviewed Blue Wing, the tribal chief, and the first Indian engaged to appear with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, was Mose Decorah, through the intervention of Harry Lea.

Funeral services for this veteran Indian trader were held in Tomah on Sunday, August 12. By a strange coincidence this event occurred at the time the Winnebagoes and other tribes are gathering at Watertown for the fourth annual Pow-Wow, given by the Winnebagoes.

Harry Lea was the only white man ever permitted to witness and participate in the secret ceremonial dances of the Winnebagoes. In his collection of Winnebago relics is the "treasure of treasures, a sacred otter's skin," the badge of the secret religious order of the Winnebagoes. The story of this badge is an interesting one, not for publication. It is surmised that Harry Lea was presented this token because of some worthy service to the Winnebagoes.

The secret will never be revealed, for the Winnebagoes do not tell the stories of such interest to their white brothers. Harry Lea observed the rules of the tribe, and never told this most thrilling tale of a service rendered and a visible reward in the form of the badge of the tribal secret religious order, the sacred otter's skin.

RED TAPE FORCES WIFE TO TRAVEL 6,000 MILES TO BRING SON TO FATHER

By ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEW YORK.—To cover the hundred yards from the detention room here to the New York ferry, a young Belgian woman and her eight-year-old son have been forced to take an extra 6,000-mile trip to Europe and back.

All because they arrived three and a half hours ahead of schedule!

And the immigration authorities could find no way of cutting the red tape which barred them!

So another chapter of sorrow was added to the tragedy of a young family which had been rent apart in the aftermath of the war.

With his business wiped out by war Remi Carton left Belgium came to this country and settled in Chicago. He declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States.

His wife came with him. But they had to leave their boy behind with relatives.

They worked hard and prospered. When they had $2,000 in the family bank account, they decided to get their boy.

Goes For Son

Mrs. Carton went for him. Being a resident of this country, she knew she could be readmitted here without trouble. But she didn't know about the restrictions governing the admission of her son. She started to return in June.

The Belgian immigration quota for the fiscal year ending June 30 had been filled.

Mrs. Carton was advised to postpone her return until the next sailing. This ship was not due in New York until July 1.

But the boat was fast and the weather good so the mother and boy reached port several hours before they expected. The authorities decided that the youngster could not be admitted for the quota had been filled.

But couldn't they forget that he arrived three and one-half hours too soon and consider him as a July arrival? The mother argued with officials.

Case Goes to Washington

They took it up with the immigration inspectors. The case was carried to a board of review in Washington. A month went by.

The boy had to go back. He could return on the same boat and apply for admission under the new quota—but he had to go back.

"It's hard to be so near—and yet so far," sighed Mrs. Carton when she heard the final decision. "I can't understand a law that makes us travel thousands of miles to come back to the same place a little later.

"But suppose that it can't be helped. I'm going with my son. I won't let him travel alone. The sooner we go, the quicker we return."

Back to Europe

So she packed up, took the fastest boat out and expects soon to come back. Today she is at sea.

But if the return trip is delayed and Belgium's quota of 313 a month is filled before they reach port again they may have to make the trip across a third time!

"On the 28th of last month," says Harry J. Landis, assistant commissioner of immigration here, "there were only 24 Belgians admissible before the allotment was filled."

"So Mrs. Carton and her son would better hurry back."

By ROY GIBBONS
CHICAGO.—Three teddy bears and a stuffed rocking horse stand in an empty room here as if in a mute protest against seemingly heartless immigration laws powerful enough to separate families and break the hearts of parents.

Remi Carton put them there to welcome the arrival of his eight-year-old son, Frank, from Belgium. He had garlanded his janitor's basement quarters with flowers making the tiny place a veritable underground fairyland.

But all this expenditure of love and thoughtfulness was in vain.

For Carton's son and wife were sent back to Europe by the Ellis Island officials—they must travel to a European port, turn around and come back to America again before they can be admitted.

Carton is heartbroken.

Toiled for Son's Future

Ever since he came to this country with his wife, he had saved and scrimped to send her back for little Frank to bring the boy to this country.

"Where he could grow up with enough to eat and become educated."

Working as a janitor here the father and husband spared no effort to earn money enough to give his son the opportunities which he had never had.

Where one apartment building would have been a heavy drain on his time and energy Carton, by working night and day for the last year has been earning for seven so that his added income might "make it easy for my boy."

Yet the youngster now is barred!

"Those laws that do this I cannot understand," Carton said in a tone that was dumb and listless. "They let my wife come to this country with me and live in Chicago two years. Yet now that she goes to bring our boy, they will not let her back with him."

"Why is it so?"

Loves U. S. Anyway

"My heart is very sick. I think I would like to die. But this country is good. I will not say evil things about it."

"But I love my wife and my boy so much!"

"I have prayed and spent almost all the money I have saved to bring them here. But it is no use. I have none left to go back with them. I must live here all alone."

"There is no one I know here who could help me."

"What shall I do?"

The rocking horse and the teddy bears are still waiting. But the flowers have faded in the basement—

Like the hopes of the man who put them there.

Ten thousand persons died in one day of bubonic plague at Constantinople.

COCA-COLA HEIR CLAIMS BLACKMAIL IN COURT SUIT

Charges Atlanta Auto Dealer
With Holdup to Tune of $25,000

FOUND IN WIFE'S CABIN
ON SHIP; SAYS HE WAS DRUNK

Recalls Similar Case Connected
With Father Few Years Ago

ATLANTA, Ga.—Declaring in a petition filed in Superior court here that he has been made the victim of a blackmail plot, Walter Candler, banker son of Asa G. Candler, multimillionaire founder of the Coca-Cola company, asks the court to restrain Clyde Byfield, Atlanta automobile dealer from disposing of a note for $20,500 which he declares was obtained by blackmail.

A dramatic episode aboard a trans-Atlantic liner, in which Byfield entered a stateroom in which Candler and Mrs. Byfield were together, is recited in the petition.

Attended Champagne Party

In his petition Candler says he does not know how he got in the stateroom as he had attended a champagne party and was intoxicated.

"Now I've caught you, and I've been suspecting this for six months," the petition says Byfield exclaimed as he entered the stateroom. "You must pay me $25,000."

There was a brief fight in the stateroom, the petition sets forth, after which Candler, "being in a dazed condition, submitted to the blackmailing demand" and gave him a check on the Central Bank and Trust corporation of Atlanta for $25,000.

Later in Paris, Candler says, the check was exchanged for the $20,500 not mentioned in the petition and $2,500 in cash. Judge George E. Bell temporarily restrained Byfield from disposing of the note and set the case for hearing Sept. 2.

Nephew of Bishop

Candler is a nephew of Bishop Warren A. Candler, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and a prominent author of church literature, and of Judge John S. Candler, former member of the Georgia Supreme court.

Asa Candler, his father, who recently announced his engagement to Mrs. Onizima De Boutelle of New Orleans, was an attempted victim of a blackmail plot in 1928, when he was mayor of Atlanta. Similar tactics were used in that case, in which J. W. Cook was sentenced to the Georgia penitentiary.

VIROQUA VOTES TO BUILD A $150,000 HIGH SCHOOL SOON

VIROQUA, Wis.—At an adjourned school meeting held in this city recently, it was voted to construct a $150,000 high school, the action being taken by a vote of two to one. No definite action was taken as to the location of the school. It was thought advisable by some of the voters to wreck the old brick grade building and place the new one upon its site, but considering the fact that the present school grounds are almost as crowded as the buildings, the majority of those present were opposed to placing the high school near the other schools. For several years the Viroqua schools have been overcrowded. The kindergarten has been conducted in the Congregational church parlor for the past three years.

NEW LOW RATE OF RE-DISCOUNT MAY AID FARM LOANS

Federal Reserve Bank Proposes
Special Measure to Handle
Crop Credits

WASHINGTON.—Establishment of a special rediscount rate of 3½ per cent on agricultural papers is under consideration by the Federal reserve board, officials said Tuesday. The proposal has been laid before the federal reserve banks. It was explained, and action by the board is being withheld pending their replies, although officials indicated, the suggestion was not meeting with favor generally.

As suggested, officials explained, the special farm rate would enable banks which made loans for agricultural purposes—upon the security of farm products—to rediscount at three and one-half per cent which is one-half per cent below the lowest reserve rate now in effect, if the rate charged by the banks to the original borrower did not exceed six per cent. A special farm products rate, officials recalled, was in effect in 1913, but was discontinued.

CLAIM YOUNG WIFE WAS KIDNAPPED BY THREE IN AIRPLANE

Mother Asserts One of Men Lassoed Daughter and Tied Her Into Ship

POLICE SCOUT STORY BUT ADMIT PLANE WAS HEARD

Husband Knows No Reason for Wife's Departure

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich.—Relatives of Mrs. Myrtle Fortney, 18, who disappeared from her home here Sunday, continued Tuesday to insist she was kidnapped by three men who seized her, tied her into the seat of an airplane and flew away. Mrs. Fortney's mother declared one of the men lassoed and bound her daughter near her home before forcing her into the machine.

The police discredited the story, but admitted the whirr of an airplane motor had been heard at about the time Mrs. Fortney disappeared.

Oscar P. Fortney, husband of the missing woman, declared Tuesday he knew of no reason for his wife's departure, and believed she had been abducted.

FINE CAST FOR LATEST CONSTANCE BINNEY FILM

Constance Binney, star of "Midnight," which will be seen here next Wednesday and Thursday at the Majestic Theater, will have the support of Jack Mulhall as leading man, and a cast which includes such well known screen personalities as William Courtright, Sidney Bracey, Arthur S. Hall, Herbert Fortier, Helene Lynch, Edward Martindel and many extras.

Fine horses and some unusual water scenes are features of this thrilling play, which verges on the melodramatic.

"IRON TO GOLD" IS A FINE, THRILLING PLAY

"Iron to Gold," a picture produced by William Fox, with Dustin Farnum as the star, and presented at the Majestic Theater last night, for its first local showing, reflects a story of great interest and a romance of exciting charm. Dustin Farnum, like his brother William, is an actor of peculiarly virile force and pleasing personality and in "Iron to Gold" has a role that displays these characteristics to greatest advantage. His success, like that of the photograph, was instantaneous and emphatic.

"SONNY" HAS THEME OF WORLDWIDE APPEAL

World wide, the reciprocal sentiment of mother love and the longing of a full grown man for what he has never known, furnishes the guiding impulse in "Sonny," the stirring drama of every day life which is being presented at the Riviera Theatre for last times tonight.

Richard Barthelmess is the star, the picture marking his third production for Associated First National Pictures Inc.

Pauline Garon has the leading female role in support of the star and is exquisitely charming.

LITTLE JACKIE COOGAN GIVES LESSON IN COURAGE

When "Trouble" is shown at the Riviera Theatre next Wednesday Thursday, Friday and Saturday the children hereabouts—boys especially—will receive a lesson in courage and manliness from Jackie Coogan, star of this newest First National attraction.

The little seven year old artist plays the role of an orphan who is adopted by the wife of a brutal plumber. When Jackie sees his foster mother in tears and realizes there is no food in the house, he undertakes with disastrous results, to substitute on a plumbing job for the good-for-nothing husband. Though he is a miserable failure as a plumber, the tiny artisan is given five dollars for trying. And when the ruffian tries to take it away from the frail mother Jackie starts a battle that winds up with the brute going to jail for a year.

RIVIERA WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Marion Davies is creating a sensation everywhere in a film version of Marie Corelli's well known novel, "The Young Diana."

The story concerns a beautiful young English girl, Diana May, who allowed herself to become an embittered spinster because of an early disappointment in love. Then she meets a scientist who is making some amazing experiments. Life holds nothing for her, so rather than follow the same dull gray path she consents to submit to one of his tests—and emerges a radiant glorious young woman. How she finds love again is the climax to the interesting story.

WALLACE REID WINS BATTLE WITH BLANK CARTRIDGES

Can blank cartridges win a battle? They can if we are to take seriously one of the comedy scenes in "The Dictator," a new Paramount feature starring Wallace Reid. This scene seems to be convincing proof that morale and confidence more than bullets are the important factors in a war.

In this scene Mr. Reid and an army of rebels of a pseudo-South American country charge the loyal army, firing volleys of blank cartridges from their guns and turn a near defeat into victory.

This is only one of the many big spectacular scenes in this new picture. More than 1,600 persons were used in this battle scene. Lila Lee is the heroine, playing the daughter of the rebel leader Dr. Rivas, portrayed by Theodore Kosloff. Others in the cast are Walter Long, Alan Hale and Kalla Pasha. "The Dictator" will be exhibited at the Riviera Theatre tonight.

CASINO TODAY

"A Wide-open Town," the Solzmitz picture starring Conway Tearle, is playing an engagement at the Casino Theater having opened yesterday. The production is easily one of the most interesting in which Mr. Tearle has yet been offered in this city.

Mr. Tearle has a role which suits him well and, as usual, he gives a good account of himself. Faire Binney, who has appeared in a number of successes on the speaking stage, has the feminine lead.

Dull Arabian Towns

In Libya, smoking, drinking and dancing are forbidden by the Senussi law. The great difference between the Senussi towns and any other desert city is, therefore, the entire absence in the former of the cafes which usually form the center of life and amusement. The whole life of an Arab town goes on within the high, impenetrable walls.

Think First

"Think before you speak," said Uncle Eben; "but don't think too long, else you's gineeteer lose yoh turn."

LOCAL SHRINE CLUB INVITED TO PICNIC

The members of the La Crosse Shrine club are invited to be the guests of the Caledonia club at a picnic at Caledonia Wednesday afternoon.

All members of the local organization who can make arrangements to attend are urged to do so. Big preparations have been made for a good time, and a fine entertainment is assured.

The La Crosse Shrines will leave the Masonic temple promptly at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon. FRANK Sisson, Pres.

FEATHERING A NEST A HARD JOB THESE DAYS IN GERMANY

High Building Costs Serve as Formidable Obstacle to Marriage

BERLIN.—"Feathering one's nest" is a formidable proposition for the young German of today who contemplates matrimony. Furniture and building costs have risen to such heights and wages relatively have sunk to such depths that the strains of wedding marches fail to have much of a siren appeal for either "Hans" or "Gretchen."

Tradition has long decreed that the young man in Germany is expected to provide a house for his bride-to-be before marriage. The latter, for her part, should approach the altar with a dowry sufficient to furnish her new home with everything from broom to bedstead. Siverware and special comforts for the household ordinarily are contributed by relatives or by guests attending the wedding ceremony.

However, there is little prospect of a German girl in the middle or lower classes living up to this custom today. Depending on earnings of a few hundred marks a week, she finds little to save up for her dowry. On the other hand, the man of her choice—despairing in his search for a place to rent—is forced to consider breach of promise when confronted with present building expenses. After deciding to erect a brand new home for his bride, he finds the prices of building materials are more than 81 times what they were before the war.

It cost 1,584.50 marks on July 1, 1914, to build a one-story cottage covering 70 square meters. On June 1 this year, building circles claim, erection of such a dwelling entailed an expenditure of 129,290 marks. The costs rose 13.8 per cent in May alone.

The stone required for a house of this sort in the summer of 1914 cost 700 marks, while now it demands an outlay of 50,784 marks. Cement and lime for it now cost 3,306.25 and 5,413.10, respectively, as against 60 and 73 marks before. Its roofing tile costs have risen from 243.50 to 17,919.90 and those for beams from 264 to 24,850, while its flooring today would come to 4,169.75 as compared with 55.50 marks in 1915.

The Cure

A Chicago doctor says that the chronic grrouch is really fatigue, intoxication. If we could get the grrouch to rest up maybe he'd give us a rest.
